Abstract

The primary goal of this report is to comprehensively identify and map the extensive categories of stakeholders associated with the COREnet project. The stakeholder mapping exercise encompasses entities that possess the potential to exert influence over the project's progression or can be significantly impacted by its outcomes. The overarching objective of this stakeholder mapping is to assess the level of interest and the potential impact each stakeholder category may have on the exploitation and dissemination of project results throughout and after the project's end. The diverse spectrum of stakeholders identified plays distinct and crucial roles, contributing to strategies for the further utilization of the results. By prioritizing these stakeholders by their respective interests and potential impacts, this report furnishes an all-encompassing framework that underpins the design and execution of dissemination and exploitation activities. This strategic approach ensures that the COREnet project can effectively engage with and harness the support of stakeholders who will play pivotal roles in maximizing its impacts.
